Packet of Bills Taken From the Desk of El Paso's Assistant Postmaster.

GOLD AND CHECKS ARE NOT DISTURBED

The El Paso postoffice was robbed Tuesday morning in broad daylight and a large sum of money, said to be $500, was taken. The robbery occurred in the office of assistant postmaster George L. Wilton, shortly before 19 octock in the morning. Mr. Wilton had stepped to the door of his office, which enters into the main mail room of the postoffice, and while there was called away for a moment and when he returned be noticed a packet of bills was missing. The bills had been in a tin safe box on his desk. Under the bills in the same box were several checks and $195 in gold, but the robber, evidently in a hurry, left the gold and checks in the box.

None of the postoffice employes were in Mr. Wilton's office at the time, so no one saw who took the money. Postmaster J. A. Smith was in the adjoining office, at his desk, but he saw no one enter or leave the office and so the postoffice officials are at a loss to know who it was that stole the money.

State College. N. M. Sept. 4.—The Agricultural College experienced the largest registration of students for the first day in its history on Tuesday. One hundred and seventy-seven assignments were made, and the indications point toward a full and enthusiastic year. The industrial department and the college seem to share equally in the increase in attendance.

E. O. Wooten, formerly professor of the Biological and Botanical department of the college, has arrived from Washington, D. C., in the interest of the national herbarium.

Mrs. J. E. Collard and daughter. Estelle, of El Paso, who have been the guests of friends here during the past few days, have left for their home.

The College Young Men's Christian association assisted the college authorities very materially during the opening days in plicting the new students and helping them to get comfortably located. An informal "open house" was held Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. building, and after a few songs, speeches, and stunts the horticultural department donated several boxes of choice Mestila Valley grapes.

Senator Fall expected to leave Monday, but was detained by a number of conferences in El Paso. He will return with senator William Aiden Smith, chairman of the subcommittee for the investigation of the Mexican revolutions and their financing.

The constitutionality of this law was questioned by assistant attorney general Sebe, of Caldwell, who refused to approve the record in a proposed bond issue of $100,000 Union irrigation district in Cameron county, presented by judge James B. Wells. Judge Wells was here today and he was advised by attorney general Walthall that the record will be approved. Progressives Prevent a Majority Choice, but Legislature Is Republican.

FLETCHER WILL BE THE NEXT GOVERNOR

White River Junction, Vermont, Sept. 4 .- Although the Republicans carried the state on a plurality vote the Progressives and Democrats developed enough strength to prevent an election by a majority vote and the choice of governor was thrown into the legislature.

The Republicans, however, will have sufficient majority in the legislature to elect Allen M. Fletcher for gover-nor and the rest of the state ticket. Returns show that the next legis-lature will contain 110 Republicans, 36 Democrats and 14 Progressives and 30 Republican senators.

Congressman Frank L. Green, of St. Albans, in the first, and Frank Plumley, of Northfield, in the second district, were reelected without material opposition. Democratic and Progressive leaders say the presidential election will be stubbornly fought.

Contests among Democrats resulted in substantial victories for the Wil-son forces over the old Clark element, championed by Theo. Bell. The vote yesterday was light, particularly in the northern half of the state. In San Francisco, out of a total registration of 117,000, only 55,000 ballots were cast. Women especially were inactive with the exception of the leaders, who enthusiastically helped at the voting booths. Light rains in the rural districts kept many farmers away from the polls.

In two congressional districts, the fourth and fifth, Taft supporters returned one nominee—Julius Kahn, in-cumbent from the fourth district. In three state senate districts Taft got one; in 12 assembly districts he got one. Four Dewitt Democrats were unopposed.

Because El Paso uses one million and a half gallons more water per day than last year, it was estimated that it would require more than $50,000 worth of coal and oil to run the city for the ensuing year. The bids in this respect advertised for by the city some time ago have been received and opened, but, pending the report of city engineer Herbert Nunn, no action will be taken. The report of the engineer will include an estimate of the amount of coal and oil deemed sufficient, together with a statement by the engineer as to what fuel he considers cheapest for the city to purchase. The report will be submitted to the finance committee within the next four days. After the finance committee has acted, it will be submitted to the city council as a whole for definite action.

Eduardo Hay Is Mentioned as the Probable New State Governor.

Strong effort to remove governor Abram Gonzalez of Chihuahua from his position is said to be shaping itself. The proposed successor of Gonzalez is said to be Eduardo Hay, the hero of Casas Grandes, who is now a member of the house of deputies of Mexico.

The federal army has taken a dislike to Gonzalez, it is said, and frequent quarrels between him and Gen. quent quarrels between him and Gen. Huerta have taken place, according to report. Gen. Huerta, who on account of his successes in the north is being talked of as the next candidate for president of the country, is said to have much power against Gonzalez in Mexico City. TROOPS SENT WEST FROM CHIHUAHUA Gen. Augustin Sanjines, with an escort of 50 Yaoui indian warriors, arrived in Juarez today to confer with Gen, Victoriano Huerta, commander of the zone. Presence of a few bands of rebels menacing the Mexico North Western railway to the southwest of Juarez will be combatted with the 900 indians under command of Gen. Sanjines. These indians will be strung along the railway at various points. The indians have proved much more efficient than the Mexican federal soldiers in scouting duty and guerilla fighting.

The indian braves eccompanying the federal general appear more like farmers than soldiers. They wear ordinary blue overalls as uniforms, and have the colls of ammunition belts around their middles as do the rebel soldiery. Gen. Sanjines and his escort came directly from Guzman, a point on the North Western, but prefered to march overland than to wait for the train. They arrived at Juarez at 5:30 Wednesday morning.

Troops Reach the Mexican Copper Camp and the Rebels Disperse to Join the Rebel Band in the Hills-A 30-Hour Fight at Nacozari, With American Helping to Defend Town Against Rebel Band.

Dougins, Ariz., Sept. 4 .- Advices received last night by officials of the Moctexuma Copper company are to the effect that after a 30 hours' battle, the garrison at Nacozari succeeded in standing off the attacking force of rebels. The defenders sustained no casualities except three wounded. The rebels withdrew northeast. What losses they sustained in killed and wounded is not known.

According to advices received by officials of the Copper company, the rebels returned this morning to renew the attack upon Nacozari. A work train intended to repair bridges and reopen the line did not leave Agua Prieta today.

Gen. Antonio Rojas is said to be responsible for the determination to reattack Nacozari. He is said to have a force of 700 men with much ammunition and a good food supply.

AMMUNITION IS WASTED. A courier who arrived in Dougias at 1 oclock this morning with news of Sunday's and Monday's fight, fears that the town will eventually fall into rebel hands. The defenders have fewer than 5000 eartridges as a result of a woeful waste of ammunition in the former fight, firing at impossible ranges. In this respect the rebels were equally wasteful. But one American participated in the first fight, the others saying they would not get on the firing line unless absolutely necessary to prevent the destruction of the town or plant.

courier arrived in Douglas from Cananca at noon today. He says Gen. Emilio P. Campa, with 250 men, each with two horses, a number of extra rifles and a large quantity of ammunition, marched south Tuesday morning to meet Rojas in the Ajo mountains, there to divide fresh mounts and ammunition and to distribute rifles to unarmed recruits. It is believed this was effected and that Rojas and Campa are investing Nacosari. It is feared the garrison of the latter may be abort of ammunition as a result of the 30 hours' battle Sunday and Monday.

FOUR HUNDRED REBELS ENGAGED. The telegram telling of this battle received here last night, said that the attacking rebels numbered 400 and that after they were beaten off, they moved west, toward the Ajo mountains, where a general assembly of rebeis for redistribution of ammunition and food supplies was to take place. Eleven bridges are burned on the Nacazori line. These will be repaired at once.

The damage to the rolling stock of the Nacazori railroad is lighter than was reported, according to Walter Douglas. Two cars of concentrates from Nacozari were wrecked by the rebels. The coaches and engine of a passenger train were held intact and recaptured by the federals.

COWBOYS ARE ROBBED.

The Christensen ranch, 16 miles west of Douglas, on the American side, was raided by rebels Sunday afternoon. They cut the wire fences and drove off a number of horses.

Young Davis, a local cowman, was at the R. O. rauch, belonging to the Cananea Cattle company, when it was raided Sunday. He had his string of four mules and two horses taken, also $65 in cash, his saddle and leggins taken from him at the point of a rifle. He says the invaders took 71 horses and all the saddles on the ranch. Several times they placed their rifle barrels against the bodies of himself and eight other men employed on the ranch. CAMPOS GIVES RECEIPT.

Campos was in command and was polite, however, insisting upon giving Davis a receipt for the stolen stock. Davis stated that 300 rebels were in the band. All were well mounted, well armed and with much ammunition, several boxes of dynamite, and more than a hundred extra rifles. Roy Adams, an American cowboy, reported missing, walked into Naco yes-

The usual scene of looting was about to commence when W. H. Moore, the foreman, informed the rebel commander that the ranch was Britisb property. The demands immediately changed to requests. Campa asked the foreman to "please allow him to take three saddle horses, which were all that he stood in urgent need of." He also requested with the deepest courtesy that his men be goven food. Both requests were granted.

Campa thanked the foreman, it is stated, then rode away, stationing sentires shout the Mababi ranch to warn other rebels that the property was not that of a gringo, but of a British subject.

Twenty-three living miners and 23 bodies have been taken from the mine. Those rescued alive were fearfully burned. The entombed men were working in a remote part of the pit and mine officials believe it will be impossible to save them.

Three of the rescuing party were among the killed and a number of the others were injured while trying to aid their entombed comrades. Further explosions occurred today and the entire pit is on fire. Mins ing engineers have decided that it must be scaled.
